From your first discussions with your Personal Wedding Planner, to the moment your last guest departs, the Cabarfeidh Hotel team is dedicated to making your wedding day perfect.

Experience and skill

The key to success is in the attention to every detail, enabling our experienced, qualified staff to bring your ideas to life.

The Cabarfeidh Hotel has provided a wonderful environment for wedding receptions for so long that we're now hosting receptions for the daughters and sons of our original happy couples.

For those who prefer it, the wedding ceremony may also take place in the hotel, which is fully licensed.

Packages to suit all budgets

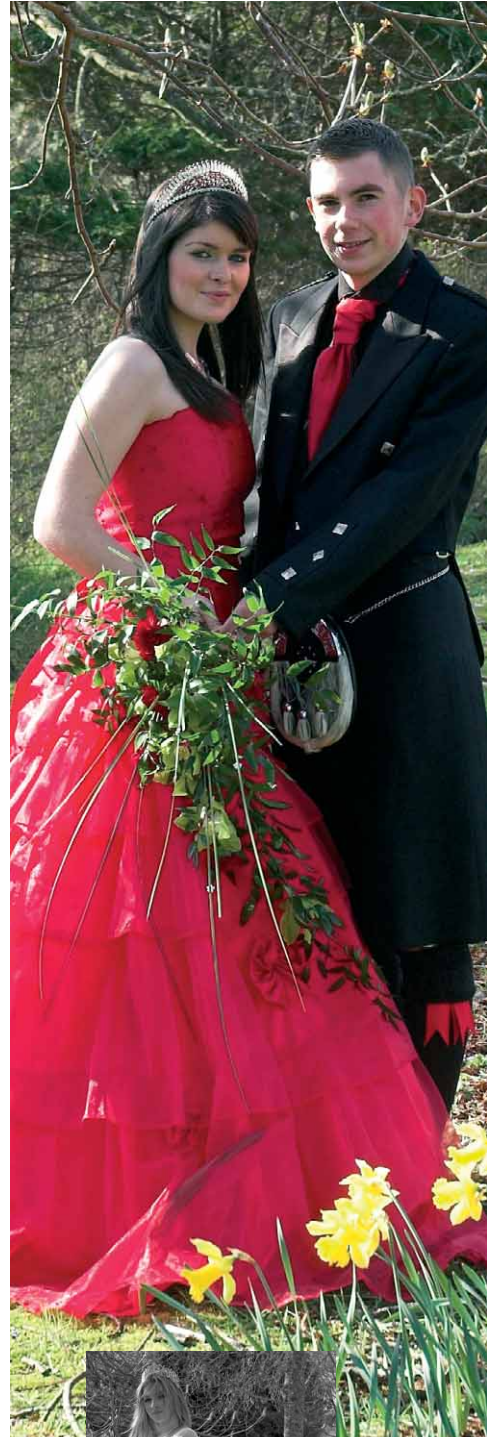

There's a choice of complete packages that cover the needs and budgets of most wedding couples, but if there's something that you would like and it's not already in one of our packages, just ask and, if it's humanly possible, we'll provide it.

Complimentary bonuses

You'll also enjoy complimentary benefits, including a luxurious room for the bride and groom, and a celebration meal for two on your first anniversary.

We hope you'll enjoy reading this brochure and the loose inserts opposite. When you're ready, please call us on 01851 702604 to make an appointment for an initial, no obligation, discussion about your plans.

Relax

planning really can be a pleasure

Planning your wedding is a joyful process, filled with anticipation and exciting moments. At the Cabarfeidh Hotel, we'll help you achieve everything you've dreamed of, for this special day.

In a relaxed, no obligation meeting with a Personal Wedding Planner, you're welcome to explore initial ideas for the day. Then, should you decide to entrust us with your celebration, your Wedding Planner will take responsibility for the occasion, right up to the moment the last guest leaves the hotel.

You'll be able to tour the hotel, viewing bedrooms and banqueting suites, so that you can see which will be the most appropriate for your day.

Your Wedding Planner will discuss menus, wine and drinks packages with you, drawing up a shortlist of your choices, followed by a tasting at a later date, so that you can be certain your final selections are exactly right for you and your guests.

You can also discuss any additional topics, such as special decorations, musicians, disco and accommodation for your guests at preferential rates.

Additionally, we can provide you with information to help you select photographers, wedding cars and other services.

a package to suit every pocket

Whether you choose the Diamond, Ruby or Sapphire menu package, we're certain that your guests will be delighted by the quality and presentation of your Wedding Banquet - which could be at lunch-time, in the afternoon or evening.

Each package has been specially designed by our Head Chef and contains both old favourites and imaginative choices to satisfy every taste. You'll find more detailed information in the pocket at the front of this folder.

Once you've decided the level of your hospitality, we'll help you select the dishes for your own, individual wedding menu. The Head Chef is always happy to provide advice and, to give you a little extra confidence that you've made the right choices, we'll even arrange a tasting for you.

Our wine and drinks packages all include welcome 'line-up' drinks, wine for the Wedding Banquet and bubbly for the toasts. Like the menus, they include a number of choices and are designed to suit every pocket.

Although the Cabarfeidh Hotel has an established reputation for large functions, we apply the same exacting standards to hospitality for smaller groups of family and friends. When you've enjoyed a wonderful day, we've achieved our goal.

...to follow the conventional pattern

Traditionally, following a church wedding, the bridal party will return to the hotel, where guests will relax while photographs are taken in the gardens or, if you prefer, in the Lews Castle Grounds, which are directly opposite the hotel. In case the weather is unkind, we will have provision for photography indoors.

After the excitement of the ceremony, the bride and groom often take a few minutes away from the crowd, before joining their close families in welcoming the guests to the reception suite - adding a little friendly formality to the proceedings.

The cake can be cut before or after the meal and we supply a ceremonial knife and cake stand for the occasion.

Speeches and toasts by the Bride's father, the Groom and Best Man also usually follow the meal and can be as formal or light hearted as you wish.

An ensuing party is normally an occasion for music and dancing and we can provide a wide choice of entertainers, including DJs, Rock, Celtic, Gaelic and popular musicians.

Many couples take the opportunity to arrange an evening reception at which those who missed the earlier celebration can join the party - you may wish to arrange an additional buffet to be served during an evening reception.

This is an excellent way to extend your hospitality at reasonable cost and your Wedding Planner can help you make a selection from the choices available.

...or set your own style

While weddings generally follow a conventional pattern, some couples wish to take a more novel approach. For example, you may prefer an indoor or outdoor ceremony at the hotel, on a fabulous shell-sand beach or uninhabited island, at the Callanish Stones or another venue, followed by a Cabarfeidh Hotel reception.

Scottish Law allows for a ceremony conducted by a Minister of Religion, or a civil ceremony by the Registrar, to be held at any location, indoors or out. For a Registrar's ceremony application for a temporary license is made at least three months prior to the wedding date and, provided the location is deemed suitable and safe, the license can be issued.

We have already researched some of the many alternatives available and our Wedding Planner can offer a list of locations known or expected to be suitable (subject to license and land-owner's approval) and will be happy to discuss the costs and procedures, then help you with the arrangements.

Although we can be generally optimistic about outdoor events in summer, in case of bad weather, a wedding ceremony arranged for an outdoor location can be relocated to the hotel.

Imagine exchanging marriage vows alongside tumbling waterfalls or on a beach with the Atlantic at your feet.

plan ahead spread the workload and be stress-free
